PUBLIC ADVISORY

Advisory to students, parents/guardians and general public regarding verification of authenticity, statutory approval and affiliation of Medical, Dental, AYUSH, Nursing, Allied & Healthcare and other professional institutions/courses before seeking admission or making any payment.

In view of the advisories issued by the National Medical Commission (NMC) dated 05.11.2026 and National Dental Commission (NDC) dated 06.11.2026, and in the interest of protecting students, parents/guardians and the general public from misleading advertisements, unauthorised admission offers and fraudulent educational institutions, Atal Medical & Research University, H.P. hereby advises all concerned to exercise due diligence and verify the authenticity and regulatory status of any institution before seeking admission or making any payment towards any professional course.

The following precautions are advised:

1. Verify Regulatory Approval: Before seeking admission, students and parents must verify whether the concerned institution and course have obtained the requisite permission, recognition or approval from the respective statutory regulatory authority/competent authority, as applicable to the particular course.

2. Verify University Affiliation: Ensure that the institution is duly affiliated with Atal Medical & Research University, H.P. for the relevant academic session and that the specific course is covered under the affiliation granted by the University.

3. Verify Approved Intake: The sanctioned intake/seats and permission for the relevant academic session must be independently verified from the concerned regulatory authority and the University, wherever applicable. Approval for one course or academic session shall not be construed as approval for another course or subsequent academic session.

4. Verify Admission Procedure: Admissions must be made strictly in accordance with the eligibility criteria, entrance examination requirements and counselling procedure prescribed by the concerned regulatory authority and competent admission authority.

5. Verify Authenticity of Documents: Do not rely solely upon prospectuses, advertisements, websites, social media promotions, purported approval letters or certificates circulated by institutions or their representatives. Any doubt regarding the authenticity of such documents should be verified directly with the concerned authority.

6. Beware of Unauthorised Admission Offers: Students and parents are advised not to rely upon agents, middlemen or any unauthorised persons offering direct, guaranteed or back-dated admissions in professional courses.

7. Exercise Caution Before Making Payments: Do not make admission-related payments to unauthorised agents, personal bank accounts or unverified intermediaries. Fees should be deposited only through the officially prescribed payment channels of the concerned institution.

8. Distinguish Between Regulatory Approval and University Affiliation: Approval/recognition granted by a statutory regulatory authority and affiliation granted by a University are separate requirements. Affiliation by the University shall not, by itself, be construed as statutory permission or recognition of a course by the concerned regulatory authority. Similarly, regulatory approval shall not automatically imply affiliation with the University.

9. Report Suspected Fraudulent Activities: Any suspected unauthorised institution, course, fraudulent admission offer, forged approval document or misleading claim of University affiliation may be reported to the concerned statutory regulatory authority, the University and other competent authorities for appropriate action.

Students, parents/guardians and the general public are advised to verify all relevant approvals, permissions and affiliation status from the official websites/records of the respective statutory regulatory authorities and the University before taking admission or making any payment.

The general public is cautioned that the University affiliation of an institution does not substitute for the separate statutory approval/permission required from the concerned regulatory authority for running a particular course.

This advisory is issued in the public interest to safeguard the academic interests of students, prevent fraudulent admission practices and ensure transparency in professional education.
